BAP's 2013 Medal of Inspiration Award Winner

Today we have an inspirational story about the recent winner of the Beta Alpha Psi 2013 Medal of Inspiration Award – an award that's given to a student who has experienced extreme hardships in life, yet has demonstrated an unusually high level of success despite all adversity. And there's an interesting new report from Deloitte – Unlocking the Passion of the Explorer – you'll want to read about. According to the study, a majority of American workers lack the passion to embrace challenges, learn new skills, and improve performance.
