EXTRAORDINARY ITEMS

This Is Extraordinary Items

I'll bet you think I messed up that subject, huh? Haha. No, no I didn't. You see, since Extraordinary Items is a singular entity, i.e. this newsletter, and not a group of actual extraordinary....Okay, I'll stop. I forgot I was talking to numbers people.

Welcome to Extraordinary Items, the new weekly email newsletter from your old pals at AccountingWEB. You'll notice that we spruced things up a bit and that we do have some extraordinary items in here including stories from the site, content from our social media accounts, upcoming webinars, the occasional Excel tip and even some words from our sponsors. There's a little something for everyone and we'll bring it to you every Thursday. And if you're so inclined, try reading this on your smartphone or tablet. I think you'll find it to be a pleasant experience.

Don't worry, my colleague Richard Koreto and I will still keep filling this space with words, too.

That's all I have for this debut, but we want to know what you think of this newsletter, so if you have comments, suggestions or hate everything about it, email us. Thanks for your continued support of AccountingWEB.

Key Shortcut for Cell Formatting

Using a mouse is overrated. Use Ctrl+1 (on a PC, use Cmmd on a Mac) to open up the cell formatting panel in the time you'll take to move your hand to your rodent friend.
